ALMANAC AND WISCONSIN ANNUAL REGISTER.—The publication of this work—the list of contents of which we give elsewhere, and which is already favorably known throughout the state—having been unavoidably delayed till late in the year, we are desirous to close out the lot remaining at as early a day as possible, and have accordingly reduced the price, as will be seen by reference to the advertisement.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The steamer Asia, with four days later dates from Europe, arrived at New York, yesterday morning. A synopsis of her news will be found under the telegraph head. Breadstuffs are higher; Consols steady; the Peace ratifications exchanged; but Italian affairs by no means settled.

An arrival from California brings nearly a million and a half in gold and, some brief particulars of the frightful Railroad accident on the Isthmus, in which 50 persons were killed and 100 and up wards wounded.

We have some further details this morning, of Kansas Affairs and additional extracts from the testimony taken before the Congressional Committee.

Sheriff Jones is rapidly recovering and will doubtless soon be able, with the help of U. S. Troops, to harass the Freemen of Lawrence by a second visit.

Another of our European Correspondent's graphic letters is concluded in to-day's paper.

Our advertising columns bear eloquent witness to the revival of trade with the opening of navigation, and the record of daily and weekly sales to the activity in real estate.

The "Border Ruffian" Outrages in Kansas.

We continue, this morning, our extracts from the testimony taken before the Congressional Committee who were sent to Kansas to inquire into the alleged frauds at the Territorial election in March 1855. After reading them, the Firemen of the North will no longer wonder that the Slavery propagandists and their Doughface allies in Congress should have so strenuously resisted the proposed investigation, or that the "Border Ruffians" and their sympathizers, in Kansas and Missouri, should have attempted to break up the Committee and threatened to destroy the evidence taken by them.

The first witness whose testimony we give to-day came from Missouri. Hear him.

Thomas D. Hopkins, called and sworn—Came into the Territory, June 1854, from Carroll county, Missouri; I settled nine miles south of Lawrence, and have resided there since; I was here at the election 30th March; met here a good many of my acquaintances from Carroll county; saw them in camp and about the polls. (Witness here gave names of many with whom he was acquainted from Missouri.) They told me there were about twenty-five of my acquaintances there from that settlement; it is about 125 miles I think from here; they said they came to vote and intended so to do; they said they wanted to make it a Slave State; if it wasn't they would lose their property, and if it was necessary they would come again; they told me there were from 700 to 1,000 from Missouri in this place, and that there would be from 2,000 to 10,000 here in the Territory from Missouri to vote.

The next is William Jessie, an Illinois emigrant, who settled in Kansas in 1854, and was present at the polls when Sheriff Jones, that zealous champion of "law and order," gave the legally appointed Judges of election "five minutes to resign or die." He tells his story in plain, straight-forward terms:

William Jessie called and sworn—Came into the Territory about middle of December, 1854; came into St Joseph Mo., in November from Illinois; I am settled upon the Wakarusa, second district, one and a half miles from Bloomington; on the last day of January, 1855, came with a part of my goods and my eldest son; on the last day of February moved my family there; on the day of election I saw a wagon with a flag, which passed me before I got to the polls; went into the house; wasn't out much; helped them prepare the poll books; saw a great many persons passing before the door and window; polls were opened; persons came and voted; others came and were objected to because they were not residents of the Territory; things went on until about 38 votes were taken, when one man came forward whose vote was objected to; the Judges would not receive it until he swore he was a resident of the Territory; the crowd cried out he should vote without swearing; while this was going on a dozen came to vote and were pulled away; pistols were presented to the Judges, and they were told their brains should be blown out if they did not receive the votes of these persons who refused to take the oath; they declared they came there to vote and they would vote; one of the Judges, Mr. Ellison, rose and said, we must close the polls or else there will be five hundred shots fired in here in less than five minutes; they tried to overthrow the cabin; at this time Mr. Ellison got the ballot-box; the doors were broken open; Ellison rushed out and cried hurrah for Missouri; I gathered up some papers and gave them to one of the Judges; the crowd rushed into the cabin; I left the cabin; soon saw a man come out with some papers in his hand; saw that they were blank papers; I hunted for Messrs. Benson and Ramsay, the other Judges, to see if they had come out; found them, and heard a man telling them he would give them five minutes to resign or die; I went into the cabin to see Benson again, and saw a man holding a watch in his hand; I told Benson he had better leave his home; he said he did not want to leave his own house; he finally did with Ramsay and myself; we went, some fifteen in number, to Mr. Ramsay's house; I asked Benson where the poll books were; I found the poll books in his pocket; he handed them to Mr. Hunbacker; Mr. H. and Mr. B. then went towards their homes; a crowd of men came on horseback and asked where the poll books were; we told them we did not know; they swore they were there—went off and returned again and abused us; Mr. Jones, now Acting Sheriff, was with them, on horseback, with Mr. Hunbacker behind him; the cry and search was then for Benson; I found him and went away with him; when I returned the bigger part of the company had gone; Jones, now Sheriff, was the man who was holding the watch and telling them they had five minutes to resign or die; some were there voting when I got back; when they left they went down east; I suppose there were nearly 400 strangers there; have not seen them in the district since; they were well armed, with knives, guns and revolvers; I do not know that any resided of the district voted.

Next come two of the officers who took the Census of the Territory, and who were consequently posted as to the number of actual residents and legal voters therein. Hear what they say:

Marcus H. Rose, of Seventh District—Have examined census roll and poll books, of Seventh District, of 50th March; there were 52 votes on the census, 17 of them are on the poll books, there are 251 names on the poll list; 8 legal voters on the poll list are not on the census rolls; 6 of the 8 had been there and built cabins, and were far away when the census was taken; 2 are new comers; there were 667 votes cast in our District on Nov. 2d, 1854; in my judgment there could not at that time have been more than 25 or 30 resident voters in that District.

James R. Stewart Seventh District—Aided Mr. Rose in examining census rolls and poll books, and concur in the testimony given by him.

The above are fair samples of the mass of testimony taken by the Committee. It will be seen that the witnesses are substantial, fully and unequivocally, the charges made by the friends of Freedom, in and out of Kansas, as to the frauds and violence resorted to by the "Border Ruffians" to elect a Pro Slavery Legislature and force Slavery into Kansas. The standing Army of the United States, under the order of the President, is now employed in enforcing the decrees of the Legislature thus fraudulently chosen. The leading Free-State men are subjected to all manner of pro-cention, indicted for constructive TREASON and dragged before Pro-Slavery Judges and packed juries for trial and punishment. And the Democratic party of the North is required, on pain of is talleginace, to stand sponsor for all these intolerable and indefensible wrongs!

MILWAUKEE & BELOIT R. R.—The Directors of this Company remained in session till a late hour on Thursday, and adjourned after making arrangements to push on energetically with their important work. Before they adjourned, however,—and we note it with pleasure, as showing the spirit with which the friends of the road are animated,—most of the Directors increased their own subscriptions of stock, in some cases to double their former amounts. Another incident of the meeting goes to shew the feeling in the interior towards the enterprise. The people of Troy and intervening towns have done well already, and are ready to do more; and there was present a delegation from Delavan, Walworth Co., who pledged the people of that town for free depot grounds and $150,000 in stock, if the intersection shall be made at that place with the Racine Road.

We have received an interesting communication in relation to the Milwaukee and Beloit R R, for which we shall try to make room on Monday.

The State Canvassers Defence.

We briefly commented on this document at the time of its publication, and mention d what we considered to be an evasion of important points. Since that time the Madison Argus & Democrat has published a lengthy editorial, attempting to show that Gov. Barstow really received a majority of votes. It establishes its point by an ingenious quibble—does it up so nicely, too, that the article may have its influence where it has been published, but we do not think it would do any good to publish it in this part of the State.

So far as the State Canvassers are concerned, their defence having been published all over the State, if they are willing that the matter should rest thus, so let it, for but few of other Democrats will be anxious to have it often brought to their attention.—Mineral Point Democrat.

Cold comfort this for the ex-State Canvassers and their champions, the News and Argus.—After doing their best to putrify the case and pollute the iniquities of that fall's canvass, it must be anything but pleasant to have their own party presses exposing and denouncing the wrongs and villainies, which they sought to conceal or excuse.

HISTORY OF ENGLAND, from the fall of Napoleon in 1815, to the accession of Louis Napoleon in 1852. By Sir ARCHIBALD ALISON, Bart; HARPER & BROS., N. Y.

We have had before us for some time, from Alison, the two volumes of Alison's History just published in this country by Harper & Bros, but have not been able hitherto to give them attention.

The historian divides the interesting period which is the subject of the present work, into five grand divisions, to wit:

1st.—From the entry of the Allies into Paris in 1815 to the English Currency Act of 1819, and the creation of peers in the democratic interest in France.

2d.—From the establishment thus of a Liberal government in France in 1819 to the Revolution of 1830, and the overthrow of Charles X.

3d.—From the debates on the Reform Bill in England in 1831 to the overthrow of the Whigs in 1841. This period will embrace the Polish revolution, the revolt of Ibrahim Pacha and siege of Acre, wars in India, &c.

4th.—Ends with the fall of Louis Phillippe, and the revolution of 1848.

5th.—Ends with the seizure of the supreme power by Louis Napoleon, and comprises the attempted revolutions in various parts of Europe, the interesting events in the New World of the war with Mexico, gold discoveries in California, the development of Australia, &c.

The two volumes now published contain the history of the first two periods above named, prefaced by an essay in Alison's best style, introducing the reader to the whole work. The first of the above periods, being one of quiet after the tremendous struggle through which Europe had just passed, is treated carefully, as, by the various under-currents at work in the public mind, developed in debates, by pamphlets and in the public press, laying the foundations for, and commencing the great changes as seen in the future of Europe. The second period is full of more active interest, embracing the revolutions in Spain, Portugal, Naples and Piedmont, the independence of Greece, the war of Russia with Turkey, the conquests of England in India, &c.

The events occurring in the various countries are not crowded together in the same chapters, year by year, but separate chapters are devoted to bringing the history of each country in its appropriate sequence.

With whatever reasonable prejudice there is existing in this country against Alison, on account of his manifold perversions of the truth, in his desire to give his own country the better part in the narrative of the events of 1812 and 1815, he is nevertheless appreciated as a great historian, and accurate where his partialities do not too greatly warp his better judgment. His style is admirable—his periods finely rounded, and the narrative has an interest only second, if second, to that of Macaulay.

CONCLUDED.

CAIRO, Jan. 15, 1856.

In going this distance, I could not help reflecting upon the difference between this and my own country in almost every respect. Although nearly noon here, there the people were quietly taking their last morning's nap, previous to early rising before sunrise—while here the weather was so warm that I observed the people in a perfect state of nudity, working by the way side; there everything was frozen up, and the inhabitants remained by the fireside, in their houses, to keep comfortable—while here where the farmers is plowing the fields and sowing his crops, amid the green branches of the palm and the songs of birds, there all the laws of vegetation are suspended, nothing is heard but the frosty sound of the jingling bells, and the explosions in a cold wintry night, in the forests of timber, or running along the surface of the lakes and streams.

I do not propose to enter into a minute description of the Pyramids—the wonders of the ancients as well the learned of modern times.—Volumes after volumes have been written, and years and years of explorations have taken place, and yet the public mind can neither be satisfied with tradition nor modern discoveries.—There are now here, and in many other places in Egypt, thousands of men employed in making excavations under the directions of scientific men, employed by antiquarian and other societies, as well as by individuals who have the means to pay the expenses. There are all through Egypt, as well as in many countries in Ethiopia, different Pyramids standing alone as well as in groups.—But the largest one, called Cheops, is here in this group, with two others. It has three sides, covers upwards of thirteen acres of land, is about five hundred feet high, and so inclining that the top of the pyramid is only some twelve feet square. The materials for their building were brought from the Arabian mountains at some distance off.

More than four hundred years before the Christian era, as I have observed in a former letter, Herodotus, the Greek historian, visited these ruins, and was equally astonished at their extent and colossal proportions as the learned antiquarians of the present day. As to the object and time of their erection, he was equally in the dark, although living at a period two thousand years, and upwards, nearer the time of their being built, and at an age when the arts and sciences in Greece had arrived at their highest perfection. And again it will be remembered that Athens itself was founded by a colony from Sais, the ancient capitol of Lower Egypt, and must have been possessed of the records and traditions, more or less, of their countrymen.

But speculation upon this subject is fruitless—they are the oldest monuments in the world, and no writer fixes their date at less than four thousand years, and many, at a more remote period. But let their age be what it may be, whether five or ten thousand years, it matters not, there they stand in silent grandeur, and one is overawed in their august presence. After resting half an hour, I started with three half naked Arabs to make the ascent of the highest of the pyramids. I had supposed I could do it alone, and so told the Shick of the village, but he assured me I could not do it. After getting up two or three hundred feet, I was entirely satisfied with this part of the arrangement, for it was extremely tedious, owing to the thickness of the blocks which are laid up in tiers. With a man on each side, pushing me by the hands, one step in advance, while another pushed from behind, I was fairly drawn up the whole distance. Every motion made by them was in keeping time to a song made up of half English and half Arabic, which they sung together—the burthen of which is the same in all tongues throughout all Oriental countries. One verse I wrote down at the time, and runs thus:

"Good man, Mahcan, backsheesh,
Allelah! Good man, Mahcan,
Allelah, allelah, allelah,
Good man, Mahcan, backsheesh!
Ha ha leh, allelah,
Ha ha leh, allelah!"

After pausing a few minutes to take breath when I got half way, I finally reached the summit in about half an hour after starting. But the ascent should not be made in so short a time for I found that I was not only quite exhausted, but did not recover from the effects of lameness in my limbs for several days.

From the top of the Cheops the view is incomparably beautiful. In addition to the objects seen as described in my last letter from the citadel, the city with its glistening domes and graceful minarets lies at your right while you face the North, and on the West, as far as the eye can reach, is the yellow sand of the Lybian desert, lying in unbroken waves like those of the ocean.

Some idea may be had of the expense of one of these pyramids, by knowing what one of the causeways cost, on which the materials were moved. For this we have the authority of Herodotus. After alluding to the unjust and oppressive taxation of the Kings of Egypt in compelling their people to build these monumental tombs, he says of Cheops: "He closed all the temples, and forbade the Egyptians to perform sacrifices; after which he made them all work for him. Some were employed in the quarries of the Arabian hills, to cut stones, to drag them to the river and to put them into boats, others being stationed on the opposite shore to receive them, and to drag them to the Lybian hills; and the 100,000 men thus occupied were relieved by an equal number every three months. Of the time passed in this arduous undertaking, ten years were taken up with the construction of the causeway for the transport of the stones—a work scarcely less wonderful, in my opinion, than the pyramid itself, for it has five stadias in length, ten orgyes in breadth, and eight in height, in the highest part, and is constructed of polished stone sculptured with the figures of animals."

The same historian further informs us that it took twenty years to build the pyramid itself, and that "on the exterior was engraved in Egyptian characters, the sum expended in supplying the workmen with raphanus, onions, and garlic; and he who interpreted the inscription told me, as I remember well, that it amounted to 1,600 talents. If that be true, how much must have been spent on the iron tools, the food and clothing of the workmen, employing as they did, all the time above mentioned, without counting that occupied in cutting and transporting the stones, and making the subterranean chambers, which must have been considerable."

When it is understood that these trifles cost 1,600 talents, about one million of our money, and that money at that time was double or treble the value of the present day, it will be seen that the expense of building a single pyramid must have been an immense sum. Some historians relate that the number of men employed for twenty years was 360,000. In reference to the object of building the pyramids of course there is a diversity of opinion. But it will always be observed, that in the absence of well attested facts upon any subject of so much importance, fable is always resorted to. Strabo in describing them says: "Three of them are remarkable, and two of them are reckoned among the wonders of the world. They are both a stadium in height, of a square figure, and their height is a little more than the breadth of their sides; but one is rather larger than the other. Near the centre of the sides is a stone which can be taken out, from which a passage leads to the tomb. The two large pyramids are near to each other on the same plain; and at some distance, on a more elevated part of the hill, is the third, smaller than the other two, but built in a more costly manner. From the base to about the middle, it is of black stone, of which they make mortars, brought from the mountains of Ethiopia; and this being hard and difficult to work, rendered its construction more expensive. It is said to be the tomb of a courtesan, built by her lovers, whom Sappho, the poetess, calls Doricha, the friend of her brother Charaxus, at the time that he traded in wine to Naucratis. Others call her Rhodopes, and relate a story that when she was bathing, an eagle carried off one of her sandals, and having flown with it to Memphis, let it fall into the lap of the King as he sat in judgment. Struck by this singular occurrence, and the beauty of the sandal, the King sent to every part of the country to inquire for its owner; and having found her at Naucratis, he made her his queen, and buried her in this sepulchre."

It is the opinion of modern writers that all the pyramids were intended for tombs. I made the descent by torch light through a long inclined plane, and thence ascended again a long distance to near the centre, when I entered a lofty room. This is called the King's room, and contains a sarcophagus of red granite, seven feet and four inches long, and three feet and upwards in height, and the same in thickness.—After passing through several galleries and passages, I came to a similar room, called the Queen's chamber. The passages leading to both were closed up by large blocks of stone and carefully sealed; but they were long since discovered and broken open in pursuit of supposed treasure.

But space will not permit me to speak of these interesting monuments any further. For acres around me are smaller tombs which have been opened and rifled of their contents. For centuries they have been used by the poorer classes of Arabs as buildings, and they are frequently occupied by visitors, who sleep in them over night, in order to be on the ground to get an early view, believing that

"——Morning opens to mortal eyes
Tenfold upon the pyramids."

For a period of more than a thousand years materials for building mosques and palaces at Cairo have been taken from the pyramids, the same as the modern Romans have plundered the Coliseum. Among the many doubts concerning these wonderful productions of man, to perpetuate his vanity or folly, the question is asked, but not answered, by what means these immense blocks of stone were raised hundreds of feet in the air without the aid of machinery? There is also another curious circumstance, that among all the excavations and researches, not even the chipping of a stone, or anything else, has been found to indicate that any part of the work had been done at or near the pyramids.

But their shadows were lengthening in the East, and I left them to visit the Sphinx and some other places of interest in the vicinity, before returning to Cairo.

CHANGE OF GRADE.—The Directors of the late Valley Railroad, now the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac R. R., commence on Monday to change the guage of their Northern section, commencing at Fond du Lac, and will push on the work as rapidly as possible. The Fond du Lac Union says:

The notice of the Railroad Company, that no freight would be carried over the road after Saturday next, has increased the demand on them for transportation four fold. While at the depot this morning we noticed large quantities of lumber piled along the track, which the owners are very anxious to ship. A train left this morning about 10 o'clock, consisting of fourteen cars, eleven loaded with logs destined for Janesville, via Rock River, and three loaded with lumber for Chesterfield. There are now forty car loads of goods at the Junction awaiting transportation. As soon as the change of guage is completed the Company will place such additional motive power and freight cars on the road as will enable them to avoid all delay in future, in the transmission of freight.

THE NEWS ON BIBLICAL HISTORY.—The News makes itself exceedingly merry over the report that one of the widows in Kansas had avenged her own wrongs in shooting JONES. After suggesting that the Republicans should claim for this widow "the same authority given to Sisera," the erudite News continues thus:

Well perhaps they ought to give her some such authority, for she has already driven a tenpenny nail into several lies they have told as relentlessly as Sisera drove hers into the head of that gentleman who was so unfortunate as Jones.

To complete the parallel, won't the News oblige "an anxious public" with the name of the "unfortunate gentleman" into whose head "Sisera" drove her nail?

"THE ASSASSINS OF SHERIFF JONES."—According to the latest accounts from Kansas, Sheriff Jones, so far from being "dead," is rapidly recovering. Instead of being killed, as was charitably suggested by the News, by "one of the two rifles contributed from the Sentinel Office," he fell a victim to the long-bow of the News. They have killed him off, in cold blood, half-a-dozen times within the past week, and will probably keep it up longer.

RACINE HARBOR.—This Harbor is in good condition, and accessible to vessels of the largest class. The Bark Young America, drawing 9 feet of water, and bringing 320 tons Rail Road Iron for the Racine and Mississippi R. R., ran in yesterday without any difficulty.

THE STEAMER PACIFIC.—Mr. R. K. Haight, of this city, has received a letter from a London friend, under date of 22d, expressing the belief that the steamer Pacific has been blown on the Greenland coast. We extract a portion of the communication:

"Your letter of 5th April conveys to us the painful apprehension under which you labor, of the loss of the Pacific and your son. It is very remarkable that my son in China, now a partner in a large mercantile house, should have sent home a ship load of tea in the Swallow. Captain Tucker, who saw the Pacific drifting before a terrible gale—he thought, disabled in her machinery. Now, Captain Tucker is a most intimate friend of the captain of the Pacific, who said to him often: "I am a northern bird; I find the degrees less." On Captain Tucker arriving, he said to some of his consignees that he had every reason to believe the Pacific was disabled, and drifting before the gale, and would be found in the northern part of Greenland. Lord Palmerston sent for him, and he stated his opinion, when two men-of-war steamers were instantly dispatched to search every part of the coast—one was the Tartar, in which was my nephew, Mr. Harford.—They have returned. Capt. Tucker does not now give up the ship as lost. He says, in such a gale what could a disabled steamer do? He brought us home 19,000 packages of tea; but for ten days he said he believed his ship would not ride it out, and such a storm prevented his once taking off his clothes. Capt. Tucker says the gale would have blown a disabled steamer three hundred miles in twenty-four hours of her course, for they could set no little canvass. Now look at the chart—a gale of wind of nine days' duration, a ship like a log on the water, why, where would she be blown to? I cannot help believing, and really hoping, the crew are yet safe with the ship on some of the inhospitable shores of Greenland, and may be heard of, as soon as they can construct a vessel from the wreck to bring them away.—N. Y. Tribune, Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 12.

The Iowa Railroad bill met with an unexpected head flaw in the Senate to-day. A motion to reconsider was made, based on a letter of Mr. Schenck, agent of another road. It is thought the bill will fail if Mr. Schenck's allegations are substantiated.

Mr. Cass talked two hours over the dead body of Squatter Sovereignty. He will conclude the obsequies to-morrow.

A new Republican ticket has been suggested here, and received with favor. It is Judge McLean for President and Fremont for Vice.

The House, on motion of Barbour, of Indiana, passed a resolution calling on the President for information as to the U. States troops having been moved upon Lawrence to enforce supposed laws of a supposed Legislature of Kansas. The sympathy of the House is active for Kansas, and this resolution has been passed at the earliest possible moment.

BUSINESS AT FOND DU LAC.—The travel thro' this city and to and from the north part of the State is immense. At the arrival and departure of the regular line of Boats, a vast crowd are seen on the more. We are now on the direct, most frequented highway for the transit of passengers and goods to and from the East and South. Let the facilities to retain this trade be more direct than now, as it will be in the coming years, and nothing can prevent this from being one of the world's great thoroughfares.—Fond du Lac Freeman.

Interesting Intelligence from Kansas.

LETTER OF MRS. ROBINSON.

The following is a letter of the wife of Gov. Robinson, published in the St. Louis Democrat, referred to in a telegraphic desp tch:

ST. LOUIS, May 12.

As Gov. Robinson and myself were passing down the Missouri River on our way to St. Louis and further east, upon affairs of business, we were taken off the boat at Lexington at the instigation of lawless men, they pretending that Gov. R. was fleeing from an indictment. He assured the gentlemen, some eight or ten in number, who gathered about our state-room door, opening upon the guard, such was not the case, that he heard of no indictment, that his whereabouts, whether in Lawrence or elsewhere, was at all times known, that if the Marshall had desired to serve such a process upon him he could easily have done so, and he should have offered no resistance. He told them also that he would never think to escape from an indictment for any political offence, and had he been doing so, of all places he would have avoided the Missouri River and Lexington. Upon the statement of the gentlemen that the delay in consenting to leave the boat, as the crowd had found the bar and were drinking freely, only added to, Gov. R's danger of personal violence, he said: "Let me see the crowd, and I can shortly convince them that I am not running from an arrest; then I can continue on my journey." To which the reply was given to the effect that he would be in immediate danger of mob violence. It was also insisted upon as a means of safety, that we pass out on the guard upon leaving the boat, while the exasperated people, a "cabin full" of them, should be unaware of our departure. A carriage was in readiness to take us to the town. We were quartered in the house of a Mr. Sawer, who kindly offered his home as a place of safety, the night guard about the house alone reminding us of the fact that Governor R. was a prisoner.—I omitted to mention in its proper place, that the gentlemen upon first coming to the state room said they had been talking with the crowd for fifteen minutes, trying to persuade them to leave the boat, but that none would be satisfied unless he remained in Lexington until they could learn whether an indictment was out.—To Gov. R.'s suggestion that is he running away from an arrest, he could see no grounds for another State to interfere, one of the gentlemen replied, "he did not wish to get in argument," Ad. Governor R. is retained a prisoner while I am allowed to pass on.

I make this statement that the true state of the case may be known.

CASE OF SHERIFF JONES—MARSHALING OF THE BORDERERS—LAWRENCE TO BE SURPRISED, ETC.

A Lawrence correspondent of the St Louis Democrat writes as follows, under date of May 7:

Mr. Jones who was appointed by the Barons of Kansas, Sheriff of Douglass, is not dead, nor in a dying condition. He is rapidly recovering. The people here are on the track of the cowardly assassin. He is supposed to be a man—a personal enemy of Jones—a pro-slavery squatter, who has frequently of late been heard to threaten his life.

A messenger from Tecumseh has just arrived with the news that indictments of high treason have been found against Reader, Robinson, Roberts, Lane, Deitzler, and the other prominent Free State men. As Sir Charles Coldstream remarked, "There's going to be a row here."

The Atchinson forces are marshaling in the border counties. Secret hand bills are in course of circulation in Platte, Clay, Jackson and Buchanan, Counties. This now awas brought here to-day by a Platte citizen of Missouri, who, although a Douglas Democrat, is opposed to the iniquitous course of Atchinson and the Administration. He told the Free State men to prepare for defence, without a moments delay. They are prepared. There is a guard out to-night.

LEAVENWORTH, May 6.

To Governor ROBINSON:

It is believed by the Friends that it is necessary for you to keep out.

Pro-slavery men are organizing at Atchinson.

A gentleman from Wyandott brought a similar notice from Friends in Missouri.

Over one hundred young men from South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia, all armed to teeth with pistols, Sharpe's rifles and Bibles, encamped on Silver Creek, 15 miles from Lawrence, last night, and are now within a few miles of this city.

It is said they intend to take Lawrence by surprise. I shall be surprised if they do.

The Congressional Committee went to Topeka yesterday; they will return to morrow. I will send you their evidence as soon as they return.—The evidence is appalling.

Dreadful Casualty.

A MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN DROWNED.

On Friday last, our esteemed fellow-citizen William Averill and family, consisting of Mrs. Averill and five children, the youngest three months old, started for their farm in the vicinity of Jenny Lind Bull Pills. The roads being very bad, from recent heavy rains, they took two oxen with two or three men to assist them, and commenced their fatal voyage up the Wisconsin River, which at that time was very high. No danger was apprehended from the fact that, Mr. and Mrs. Averill, four children and one assistant, were in one canoe; the other contained two men, the oldest boy and a portion of their household furniture. When about nine miles up the river and near the shore in swift water, the canoe swung around against a tree that hung just over the surface, and instantly upset. Mr. Averill came up near his son, whom he seized and made towards the shore, which he reached with great difficulty and was so much exhausted that he was unable to stand or afford any relief to his drowning companion and children. Mrs. Averill appeared on the surface once with her babe in it arms and sank to rise no more. The oldest girl who was between five and six years was not seen, after the boat upset. The next girl, about four years of age, floated near shore, and was rescued with great difficulty.

Thus by one fell swoop, have an affectionate companion, a fond mother and kind neighbor, and two blooming girls found a watery grave.—The bodies have not yet been found.—Wisconsin Pinery.

LA CROSSE RAILROAD.—We are informed that the La Crosse Railroad Company, finding that the route they had adopted through the pond near Beaver Dam, was not as favorable as they supposed it would be, have concluded to adopt a new line, which runs within two miles of the village of Fox Lake. This satisfies the people of that village and is an excellent line for the road.—Fond du Lac Union.

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—At the last meeting of the State Historical Society, arrangements were made for obtaining views of the battle fields of Wisconsin Heights, Pecatonica, and Bad Axe, to be painted in oils by Messrs. Brooks and Stevenson.

SALE OF LOGS.—The Sauk Rapids Frontierman states that the sale of logs and lumber seized by order of Government upon the Mississippi and its tributaries, in the Sauk Rapids Land Office District, took place on the 16th inst., at Sauk Rapids. Upwards of 30,000,000 of feet were sold at public auction.—La Crosse Democrat.

DISCOVERY IS.—The schooner Stronach, damaged by collision with the schooner Telegraph as mentioned yesterday, was towed in by the tug Tiff. She is badly damaged but will be repaired speedily and be about her business.

THE ERIE CANAL.—The Buffalo Republic of the 13th says:

Only five boats have cleared as yet, and the prospects of an early business are rather dubious. The condition of the canal along the whole line is said to be extremely unfavorable, and we fear many and frequent interruptions. The dam at the Commercial street Bridge will not yet admit the passage of boats—a result which is wholly due to the blundering management of the Superintendent. When we shall get fairly under way is impossible to predict with any certainty.

ST. CLAIR FLATS.—Capt. Bain, of the schooner Kate Richmond, which arrived last evening from Chicago, reports 16½ feet water on the Flats. This is about the same as last summer.—Buffalo Republic, May 14.

POLICE COURT, MAY 16.

BEFORE CLINTON WALWORTH, POLICE JUSTICE.

Richard Fechnick, drunk, second offence, paid $2; John Burns, drunk disorderly, fined $3; Sherman Smith, drunk and disorderly, fined $5 and costs.

KEEPING A DISORDERLY HOUSE.—The trial of Professor Pipes, on a charge of violating Sec. 2 of an ordinance passed July 24th, 1848, occupied the Court nearly the whole day—sixteen witnesses being sworn. The charge was keeping a disorderly house, and the evidence, to say the least, was considerably mixed. It certainly showed that several policemen had been in the habit of hearing noises and disorder there for months; that when called there by defendant to make arrests, they found it quiet. One of the witnesses stated, (and the complaining one, too,) that the house was to be set fire to, and that the object of the complaint was to prevent the incendiarism, for fear of its burning the whole block. It was also shown, by several witnesses, that the house opposite was more noisy than the professor's, and that that the latter was as quiet as any other house of the kind, (dancing house,) on the night charged in the complaint; and that, on all occasions, the professor tried to keep order, and put out those who were disorderly, and, when unable to do himself, sent or went for officers to do so. It was shown, by one of the officers, that prostitutes had been seen there dancing; but there was no evidence to bring the knowledge of this fact home to the professor.

The Court found the defendant guilty, and fined him $50 and costs.

HARDWARE LITERATURE.—Among one "Notices of New Publications," we have not yet mentioned a work now in the binder's hands, from the press of Rufus King & Co., by our enterprising young friends, LeGrand Grenne, Hardware Dealers of this city. It is a neat pamphlet of nearly 50 pages, abounding in accurate and valuable information as to the variety of articles, items, matters an l things, knicknacks, tools, implements, &c., comprising their stock, and, as our old acquaintance, Auctioneer Foster, used to say, "forms a useful volume for general reading, and an elegant and appropriate present for the library or the boudoir." As for lozenges, so "children will cry for" these books.

STEAMERS, &c., OUTWARD BOUND.—The good steamer Niagara, Capt. MILLER, is off for Collingwood to-morrow morning, from Higby's Pier, calling at ports along shore.

The steamer Lady Elgin or the Superior will leave Dousman & Co's South Pier this evening, for Superior City, calling at all intermediate ports.

The propeller Illinois is expected to leave for Buffalo this evening. For passage, JOHN GRIFFIN, on Main, near Huron St., is agent.

THE MARKET HOUSE.—Ald. JUNG of the Seventh Ward, in reply to the queries in yesterday's Sentinel, about the rents of the First Ward Market House, informs us that there are arrears of rent, to the amount of $300 which he is now collecting; that the means thus obtained are expended in repairs of the building and paving the streets in its vicinity, and that he will shortly submit a statement for the information of the public, showing what rents are received for the building and to what purposes this money is applied.

THEATRE—ATTRACTIVE BILL.—There was another very good house at Young's Hall, last evening.—Miss DENIN and THORNE's "Star Company" proving very attractive, and playing to the satisfaction of all who see them.

An excellent bill is offered for to-night, "Guy Mannering" and "Jack Sheppard;" Miss DENIN and Miss THORNE appearing in both pieces.

PERSONAL.—The Rev. Mr. AKERLY, for many years Rector of St. Paul's Church in this city, is now on a visit here and is to preach to-morrow, by appointment of the Bishop, the Ordination Sermon at Nashotah Seminary.—Mr. AKERLY meets with a most cordial welcome from his old friends and parishioners in Milwaukee, who are rejoiced to see him once more in their midst.

ENGINEERS' & SURVEYORS' INSTRUMENTS.—COLGATE BRO's advertise the receipt of an assortment of these instruments, for which a great demand exists on the lines of the various railroads, and in city surveys. They have made such arrangements to keep a stock on hand, or to fill orders, and this branch of trade must grow to a large extent in our city.

EVERGREENS.—We are indebted to Mr. L. C. HALSTED for a couple of handsome Norway spruce trees, samples of evergreens, of which he has fine varieties at his stand, near the foot of Wisconsin Street. They are in capital order for planting out, and as we hope will soon be in the grounds about the private residences of our city.

FIREMEN'S TOURNAMENT.—The annual spring Parade and Inspection of our Milwaukee Fire Department comes off on Tuesday next. The several Companies are preparing for a handsome show and a spirited contest.—Should the day be pleasant, the parade will be a fine one.

FARM FOR SALE.—We invite attention to the advertisement of a farm for sale near Geneseo, concerning which application can be made to the owner or to W. W. TAGGART. One can hardly go amiss in finding a good farm thereabouts.

MUSICAL SOCIETY.—We publish, to-day, the programme of the next Concert for the members of the Milwaukee Musical Society, which promises to give, as they always do, a delightful treat to lovers of good music.

JEWELRY AND FANCY GOODS.—LOOMIS & HOES, at their elegant store corner of Wisconsin and East Water Street, give notice to-day of the receipt and display of a great variety of desirable things in their line.

OUTWARD APPOINTMENTS.—MAGIE & SWAIN, old acquaintances of our readers, have a genteel reminder to-day, of the receipt of choice selections of goods for the outfit of gentlemen in proper style.

VALUABLE PROPERTY AT AUCTION.—This morning CALEB WALL sells that valuable property in the Fifth Ward, adjoining Walker's Brick Block. Here is a good chance for moneyed men.

DRY GOODS.—HOUGHTON & Co., at 206 West Water Street, are on hand with full supplies of fashionable and seasonable goods, of which our readers are desired to take special notice.

FRESH OYSTERS.—A lot of fresh oysters in the shell, just received from New York by Express at the St. Nicholas Restaurant, No. 16, Wisconsin Street.

LIQUORS AND TEAS AT AUCTION.—Crampton sells at Auction, this morning, on assignment, a large lot of Liquors and Teas. Also a quantity of second hand Furniture.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—Besides Mr. LAIDLAW's weekly list of recorded real estate sales, he has an advertisement in our columns adjoining, to which attention is invited.

☞ We are informed that HENRY C. WRIGHT, of Boston, will lecture at Young's Hall, at half past 10 o'clock, A. M., at half past 2 and half past 7 P. M., to-morrow.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—WALL again calls attention to the coming sale of valuable property in Hathaway's addition.

AUCTION THIS MORNING.—Hood, across the river, sells a general assortment of everything this morning.

☞ HOOD sells at auction to-day a large lot of furniture. See his advertisement.

☞ If anybody finds a gold watch, our columns will tell them who owns it.

I shall continue to publish a weekly report of sales as heretofore, and would recommend all who are interested in Real Estate, to take the paper containing my said report, and file the same, by which means they will always be familiar with, and have a correct list of all transactions in this line of business. My report is got up with the greatest possible care, and is therefore correct and reliable in every item. W. LAIDLAW.

Said farm is situated 20 miles from Milwaukee, on a Plank Road, and 2 miles from a depot on the Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad, and comprises 360 acres, of which 200 acres are fenced, improved, and partly cropped. There are on said farm one frame house, one log House, one large frame barn and any number of sheds. Also, fine orchard, beautiful springs and a running stream with a considerable fall, the dam is built and a large portion of timber collected on the spot for the erection of a mill, which in that neighborhood would prove a largely paying investment. "PRO BONO PUBLICO."
W. LAIDLAW'S LAND AGENCY, office 290 East Water Street, 2 doors south of Walker House. I beg to return thanks to the public for the liberal patronage bestowed upon me during the time I have been engaged in the real estate business, and I do so with all the more pleasure on account of having received the most striking proofs of the manner in which my services are appreciated. Those who have patronized me know well, and will cheerfully testify to the advantages which I offer. My principles are straight forward, honorable and liberal. I never require any one leaving the sale of property in my hands, to go any written obligation of whatever nature or kind whatever, binding them to any thing of the kind, but adopt the principle of "No sale no charge." The great increase of business has compelled me to enlarge my office, which, now being finished, is the most convenient and desirable in the city, and as the list of property I offer for sale is second to none, I would strongly recommend those who wish to be well served to make my office their head quarters. I have prepared a town map of the city, which exhibits at one glance, and in striking colors, all the best and most desirable property offered for sale. may17

VOLUME XI. MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 17, 1856. NEW SERIES.

From the "Compass, with Variations."

BY TOM. HOOD.

Down went the wind, down went the wave,
Fear quitted the most timid;
The saints, I wot, were soon forgot,
And Hope was at the pinnacle;
When rose on high with rightful cry—
"The devil's in the binnacle!"

"The saints be near!" the helmsman cried,
His voice was quite a falter—
"Steady's my helm, but every look
The needle seems to alter;
God only knows where China lies,
Jamaica or Gibraltar!

The captain stared aghast at mate,
The pilot at th' apprentice;
No fancy of the German Sea
Or Pacific the event is;
But when they at the compass looked,
It seemed non compos mentis.

Now north, now south, now east, now West,
The wavering point was shaken;
'Twas past the whole philosophy
Of Newton or of Bacon;
Never by compass, till that hour,
Such latitudes were taken.

"Any game horsebouts?" said a newly arrived to a Texan. "Guess so," said the Lone Star, "and plenty of 'em—we have bluff, poker, euchre, all fours, and monte, and just as many others as you'll like to play."

☞ The seeds of sorrow may be sown with a light heart, but the harvest must be reaped in bitter tears.

What do you say to a great wrong?

AN INTERESTING STORY.—"Shon, mine Shon," said a worthy German father to his heir of ten years, whom he had overheard using profane language. "Shon, mine Shon!—come here, an' I will dell you von little stories. Now, mine Shon, shall it be a true story, or a makes believe?"

"Oh, a true story, of course!" answered John.

"Ferry well den. Dere vas once a goot, nice oldt shentleman, (shoost like me,) and he had von dirty liddle poy, (shoost like you.) DRY GOODS,
Ever before offered in the West!
Being connected with several large manufacturing establishments and importing houses at the East, giving us an advantage over any other Merchandise House in the State, and having established and done business in this city, and our established principles of doing business being well known to every city and country customer, to be of the most liberal nature, we flatter ourselves that we can say with safety that we consider competition quite out of the question.
We would say to
COUNTRY MERCHANTS
who design going East to purchase, that we would esteem it a favor if they would honor us with a call before leaving for New York and Boston, as we feel quite confident that we can convince them that it is to their interest to purchase in Milwaukee.

HATHORN, SHERMAN & CO.,
DEALERS IN FINE CLOTHING!
AND
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS!
No. 107 East Water Street,
MILWAUKEE, - - - WISCONSIN
IN presenting their compliments to the citizens of Milwaukee and its vicinity, respectfully invite their attention to a large and superior stock of
READY MADE CLOTHING,
AND
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
Which they have just opened at 107 East Water Street. As they are a branch of one of the largest houses in the city of New York, and having excellent facilities for manufacturing, both in Newark, N. J., and New York, and employing good taste in selection of materials, and proper cut and fit of the highest order in their manufacture, it is no vain boast to say that if our stock presents unusual attractions. Their goods having been sold for the past eight years to the first Clothiers in the principal cities of their choice, as they believe, I am justified in the belief in all cases, that their customers (and in an unparalleled decree, they feel fully justified in saying to the citizens of Wisconsin that to anything heretofore offered in the West. We warrant every article to please—if not, to refund the money. Our object is to consult the interest of the consumer, and therefore promote our own. And in opening this branch in this thriving town and rising city, we present an article not only superior in style and workmanship to those usually offered, but equal in durability and fit to garments made in any customer shop in the Union. We also are prepared to say that, as it appears fashionable in this market for Clothiers to inform the public of the intended arrival from the eastern style, that we are in receipt, every week, of the latest reporters in the Eastern market, a suit of clothes at each of the various establishments of the year, and though we do not always recommend such styles, yet the knowledge of the same is useful, and we can give to them a criticism of any other establishment. We are pleased to fit the head as well as the body.
THEIR STOCK IS SUPERIOR
Our Furnishing Goods Department
Embraces the largest variety of styles, and as one of the made WAYS to be found in New York, and it we shall always be ready to receipt them, as daily upon the line.
TO THOSE IN PURSUIT OF A SHIRT,
We would request attention. As we have a manufactory in our own which produces over one hundred and fifty per week, we are prepared to furnish the various grades, and at prices that cannot fail to please. Gentlemen's wearing parts also kept on hand, so that it is to their interest to call on us, as they can be accommodated with very short notice. City and Country Trade supplied at New York prices and with dispatch.
